LONDON, April 14 —Sir Thomas Buxton, Conservative, has been elected to Parliament from South Norfolk

Circular from Thiers

VERSAILLES, April 14 —Thiers has issued another circular says fighting the last two days has been of an important character Chatillon and the southern forts of Paris continue to fire with our result Our troops are well established in their positions and have repulsed a sortie Our communications are perfect, while those of the insurgents have been destroyed Gen Wolf, by a sortie from our lines has damaged the insurgent preparations for an attack on Asnieres

Proposition to Betray Paris for Money

LONDON, April 14 —A despatch from Versailles Thursday evening says an offer has been made by commanders of the National Guards to betray to the Versailles Government two of the city gates for 350 000 francs each Similar offers were made by some of the leading men with regard to the delivery of Forts Issy and Vanvres for a million francs Thiers declined these propositions

Yesterday delegates from the insurgents arrived, but Thiers refused to treat with rebels in arms All insurgents taken prisoners are sent to Brest Thursday evening a party of them on the way murdered one of their guards, and eight of them were shot next day

The army and Assembly are discontented because Thiers will not permit a descent on Paris

A solemn requiem mass celebrated at the Cathedral for Generals Thomas and Lecompte Vast and influential congregations assisted

There are no troops at Versailles they are all crowded around Paris

A dispatch from Boulogne last night says demonstrations from that place in favor of Paris and the Commune has been arranged for Sunday, when the National Guards will parade

A Lull in the Contest

PARIS, April 14—Evening —There is a comparative lull in the contest The Nationals are discouraged by the repulse of the Versailles army, and are anxious to attack the latter, but Cluseret insists on confining their movements to defensive operations

Three gunboats shelled Sevres and St Cloud to day.

A National Guard was shot this morning for killing his captain He confessed to shooting five other officers

Petroleum shells have been prepared for throwing into Fort Valerian

The church of St Roche was seized by the Nationals and the people ejected. A crowd collected, and a woman denounced a man attired in plain clothes as a priest She was beaten terribly This is the first sign of reaction in favor of the priests

VALLEJO April 15 —Commodore Jarrett arrived last night, and at 10 o'clock to day formally took command of the Navy Yard, relieving Commodore Goldsborough.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

Dispatch from Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, April 15 —There is much excitement among the Chinese in this county growing out of the murder of Ah Wong, a Chinaman on the 10th inst The murder is charged on the members of a rival company and the indications are that serious trouble will ensue, as the different companies are arming themselves and preparing for a fight

Yesterday Deputy Sheriff Foudray arrested two men, named Griffin and Miller, who broke jail in Yolo county, Cal., last January They were arrested on a requisition from the Governor of California, and are held until the arrival of officers from that State

It is said that fully one-third more grain has been sown in this valley this season than ever before

The weather here is warm and showery, and grain is very promising

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE ON SAN DOMINGO.

CANDID STATEMENT OF THE PRESIDENT'S VIEWS —THE COMMISSION DEMANDED BY HIM TO VINDICATE HIS CONDUCT—THAT DONE, IT NOW LEAVES THE WHOLE MATTER WITH CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, April 5th

The following is the President's message transmitting the report of the San Domingo Commissioners

To the Senate and House of Representatives —I have the honor to submit herewith to the two Houses of Congress the report of the Commissioners appointed in pursuance of a joint resolution, approved January 12th, 1871 It will be observed that this report more than sustains all that I have heretofore said in regard to the productiveness and healthfulness of the Republic of San Domingo, the unanimity of the people for annexation to the United States and their peaceable character It is due to the public, as it certainly is to myself, that I should here give all the circumstances which first led to the negotiation of a treaty for the annexation of the Republic of San Domingo to the United States When I accepted the arduous and responsible post now I now hold I did not dream of instituting any steps for the acquisition of insular possessions I believed, however, that our institutions were broad enough to extend over the entire continent as rapidly as other people might desire to bring themselves under our protection I believed further that we should not permit any independent government within the limits of North America to pass from a condition of independence to one of owner ship or protection under any European power

Soon after my inauguration as President I was waited upon by an agent of President Baez with a proposition to annex the Republic of San Domingo to the United States This gentleman represented the capacity of the island, and the desire of the people and their habits and character, about as they have been described by the Commissioners whose report accompanies this message He stated further that being weak in numbers and poor in purse they were not capable of developing their great resources, that the people had no incentive to industry on account of a lack of protection for their accumulations and that if not accepted by the United States with institutions which they love above those of any other nation they would be compelled to seek protection elsewhere To these statements I made no reply, and gave no indications of what I thought of the proposition In the course of time I was waited on by a second gentleman from San Domingo, who made the same representations and was received in like manner In view of the facts which have been laid before me, and with an earnest desire to maintain the Monroe doctrine I believed that I would be derelict in my duty if I did not take measures to ascertain the exact wish of the Government and inhabitants of the Republic of San Domingo in regard to annexation, and communicate the information to the people of the United States Under these circumstances, I felt as if had I turned a deaf ear to this appeal I might be in future justly charged with flagrant neglect of the Republic and utter disregard of the welfare of a down trodden race praying for the blessings of a free and strong government and for protection in the enjoyment of the fruits of their own industry Those opponents to annexation who have heretofore professed to be prominently the friends of the rights of man I believed would be my most violent assailants if I neglected so clear a duty Accordingly, after having appointed Commissioners to visit the island one of whom declined on account of sickness, I selected a second gentleman in whose capacity judgment and integrity I had and have yet unbounded confidence He visited San Domingo not to secure or to favor annexation but, unprejudiced to learn facts about the government people and resources of that Republic He went certainly as well prepared to make an unfavorable report as a favorable one if the facts warranted it His report fully corroborated the views of the previous Commissioners, and upon it I felt that a sense of duty and a due regard for our own national interests required me to negotiate for the acquisition of the Republic of San Domingo As soon as it became publicly known that such a treaty had been negotiated, the attention of the country was occupied with allegations calculated to prejudice the merits of the case, and with those whose duty had connected them with it Amidst the public excitement thus created the treaty failed to receive the requisite two thirds vote of the Senate, and was rejected but whether the action of that body was based wholly upon the merits of the treaty or might not have been in some degree influenced by such unfounded allegations could not be known by the people, because the debates of the Senate in secret session are not published Under these circumstances, I deemed it due to the office which I hold, and the character of the agents who had been charged with the investigation, that such proceeding should be had as would enable the people to know the truth

A Commission was therefore constituted under authority of Congress consisting of gentlemen selected with special reference to their high character and capacity for the laborious work intrusted to them to visit the spot and report upon the facts Other eminent citizens were requested to accompany the Commission in order that the people might have the benefit of their views Students of science and correspondents of the press without regard to political opinions were invited to join the expedition, and their numbers were limited by the capacity of the vessel

The mere rejection by the Senate of a treaty negotiated by the President only indicates a difference of opinion with the Government, without touching the character or wounding the pride of either but when such rejection takes place simultaneously with charges openly made of corruption on the part of the President or those employed by him, the case is different Indeed in such a case the honor of both demands investigation This has been accomplished by the report of the Commissioners herewith transmitted, which fully vindicates the purity of the motives and actions of those who represented the United States in the negotiations And my task is finished and with it ends all personal solicitude on the subject My duty being done yours begins, and I gladly hand over the whole matter to the judgment of the American people and their representatives in Congress assembled The facts will now be spread before the country and a decision rendered by that tribunal whose convictions so so seldom err and against whose will I have no policy to enforce My opinion as unchanged, indeed, it is confirmed by the report that the interests of our country and San Domingo alike invite the annexation of that Republic

In view of the differences of opinion upon this subject I suggest that no action be taken at the present session beyond the printing and general distribution of the report Before the next session of Congress the people will have considered the subject Having formed an opinion concerning it, to which opinion, deliberately made up, it will be the duty of every Department of the Government to give heed, and no one will more cheerfully conform to it than myself It is not only the theory of our Constitution that the will of the people constitutionally expressed is the supreme law, but I have ever believed that all men are wiser than any one man and if the people, upon a full representation of the facts shall decide that annexation is not desirable, every Department of Government ought to acquiesce in that decision

In again submitting to Congress a subject upon which public sentiment has been divided, and which has been made the occasion of debates in Congress as well as unjust aspersions elsewhere, I may, I trust be indulged in the single remark that no man can hope to perform duties so delicate and responsible as pertain to the Presidential office without sometimes incurring the hostility of those who deem their opinions and wishes treated with insufficient consideration and he who undertakes to conduct the affairs of a great Government as a faithful public servant if sustained by the approval of his own conscience, may rely with confidence upon the candor and intelligence of a free people whose best interests he has striven to subserve, and can bear with patience the censure of disappointed men

CURRENT NOTES

Col John S Loomis is the Land Commissioner at New York for the Northern Pacific Railroad

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has issued a new form of blank for the return of income tax By it the taxpayer is relieved of the inquisitorial features incident to the previous form of returns, and the computation of payments is much simplified

Alluding to Democratic perversions of the truth in relation to the outrages in the Southern States, the New Orleans Republican asks "What interest is it to Republicans to keep alive this fearful disorder? The records of the South will prove that they are the only sufferers"

The official returns show that the receipts of grain in Chicago in 1869 70 were far ahead of those of St Louis The amount of flour was about the same in the two cities, but of wheat, corn oats and barley, Chicago had nearly three times the amount received in St Louis

It is suggested as explanatory of Senator Davis' violence in threatening Representative Butler that he is so little used to have attentive listeners to his tedious speeches that he did not know what to make of Mr Butler's marked interest in his remarks, and resented it as insulting Possibly

The Chicago Tribune says no third party is needed to day, and that so far as a declaration of its principles is concerned, it is found in the Republican platform of 1868 This is the platform which the party stands upon, and it is gratifying to know that the Illinois free-trade journal has not yet severed its connection with the party

The cost of the Cuban insurrection to the Spanish authorities has been far from small The government since the beginning of the insurrection, has borrowed $30,000 000 for its war funds The number of troops, regular and volunteer have amounted to 107 000 It is estimated that the losses by disease, desertions, and in the field figure up as high as 70 000

The Franco Prussian war is estimated to have cost France no less than nine milliards of francs Thirty three departments out of ninety are entirely ruined—that is to say, a full third of France It will be necessary to reconstruct all the bridges all the tunnels all the buildings which have been destroyed and provision must likewise be made to ward off the famine which threatens the most beautiful part of the country This is the price of twenty years of corrupting despotism

POLITICAL NOTES

The Republicans of Connecticut the week before the recent election, obtained proof that Gov. English and Bill Tweed of New York, were concerting to carry Connecticut by flooding the State with money from Tammany's corruption fund They used this information with tremendous effect against the Democrats

Senator Pool of North Carolina, a few days ago delivered a most able and impressive speech in the Senate on the Ku Klux outrages He showed that a secret political organization exists at the South, the object of which is to intimidate Union men, and especially Republicans He argued that this was composed of the disorderly elements of the late rebel army and that it is the duty of the Government to use all its power to protect peaceable, law abiding citizens in the South in their persons and property The speech was very long but it is pronounced by some of the Senators as one of the ablest that has been delivered in the debate

The Free Trader, a paper of Democratic proclivities, thus exposes a common trick of Democrats on the tariff question Mr Randall (Dem., Pa) has distinguished himself in the recent debates in Congress on the tariff by an advocacy of Protection more thorough going and effective than that of Mr Kelley Mr Randall was the author of the motion to free tea and coffee and voted against free coal and free salt Yet Mr. Randall was Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Committee during the late congressional elections, which circulated thousands of Free Trade tracts, and pressed the tariff issue vigorously.

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, APRIL 17, 1871.

Calumny Confounded.

California papers publish the substance of the report of the San Domingo Commissioners. After the report was read in the Senate Morrill, of Maine, who has opposed annexation throughout, delivered a speech in which he repeated his objections to the project. The chief value of the report, he thought, was its vindication of the integrity of President Grant in his management of the whole affair;—yet in the mind of Senator Morrill the President needed no such vindication.

Some days ago the telegraph informed us that the President was in receipt of letters, telegrams and personal calls, in large numbers, congratulating him on his complete vindication. The tongues of malignity and slander had been imputing to him corrupt motives and conduct in this transaction from the very first; but a searching investigation proves the utter groundlessness of these infamous reports, and those who have been circulating them, from Senator Sumner down to the meanest Copperhead politician, are completely silenced.

The message of the President transmitting to Congress the report of the Commissioners, will be found in another column of the OREGONIAN to-day. Some days ago the telegraph advised us that this message was the subject of general and favorable comment, and that the President had strengthened himself greatly by it. This, however, was but a gentle way which those who had been so basely and causelessly slandering him in this affair had of backing down, on disproof of their infamous charges. The professional libellers were hit a hard blow, and they had to find somewhere a way to escape. So they began to hail "the President's return to sober reason," as evinced by this message, when in point of the fact the message with the report that accompanied it, was a refutation of their own base calumnies.

This message, we hope, will be read by every honest person in the country. In it the President gives his reason for the course he has pursued, and he states them with dignity, clearness and force. Sincerely believing that the acquisition of San Domingo would be advantageous to the country, he opened the negotiation. Immediately he was charged with being at the head of a corrupt coalition which expected to make vast profits out of the transaction. The charge might have been expected from the unscrupulous falsifiers of the Democratic press; but soon some Republican malignants who had "grievances" of long standing against the President, took up the charge and began to ring it in Congress and all over the country. Mr. Sumner determined this dirty business, and led the libellous onslaught. The treaty failed to obtain a two-thirds vote in the Senate. Under ordinary circumstances the President would have let the matter drop here. But his own honor and those whom he had employed in the negotiation had been assailed. The resolution to try had taken place simultaneously with charges of corruption on the part of the President and of those to whom he had entrusted the negotiation. Hence he insisted on the appointment of a Commission to investigate the whole affair. Congress authorized this commission, and the President named for commissioners three men in whose integrity the country has the most perfect confidence. No person can think among those who have been most relied on inducing the President in this affair, has had the audacity to breathe a word of suspicion against the character of the Commissioners. They went to San Domingo; they remained there several weeks, and by express direction of the President made these charges of corrupt speculation in the transaction the subject of especial inquiry, and found them utterly false. There was not the slightest ground for them to rest upon. And the President in his message to Congress says with the quiet moderation of generous nature in the time of triumph: "The report of the Commissioners, herewith transmitted, fully vindicates the purity of the motives and actions of those who represented the Government in the negotiations. And my task is finished, and with it ends personal solicitude on the subject. My duty being done, yours begins, and I gladly hand over the whole matter to the judgment of the American people and their representatives in Congress assembled. The decision is to be rendered by that tribunal whose convictions so seldom err and against whose will I have no policy to enforce."

A contemporary in commenting on these things well says: "The President's integrity and wisdom of purpose having been thus early and absolutely vindicated before the country, he declines to press the measure any further, leaves it entirely to the direction of Congress, and recommends that it be postponed to the next session, in order that the people may have time for information and reflection. Did ever an American President under villainous misrepresentation, behave with greater patience, moderation and dignity in that character? and did ever one obtain a more complete and overwhelming confounding of his calumniators?"

The appearance of Jeff. Davis on the political field, taken in connection with the Democratic clamor for a renewal of the contest in behalf of the theories that animated the rebellion, is very significant. If Democrats are resolved to fight for the issues which they say will be paramount in the next contest, no candidate would be so suitable as the chief of the late Southern Confederacy. In his recent speech at Selma (Ala.) he declared that "State sovereignty, though defeated in the late struggle, will ultimately triumph." Evidently Jeff. Davis is the man Democrats are looking for. Why search further for a candidate, when his views suit them exactly.

The Louisville Courier-Journal, while denying the judiciousness of Congressional legislation for the South, admits the existence of the Ku Klux organization in Kentucky. It says: "It will be borne in mind that we deny nothing. We are not engaged in a game of cut-and-shuffle. It is not the purpose of our writing to prove that anybody is another. There is a Ku Klux organization in the South. How large it is we cannot say, but, in our opinion, it is small. In Kentucky it is certainly so, and composed of vagabonds. It has only appeared in half a dozen counties of the State. But where it has appeared there has been a reign of terror; and, at this moment, it would not be safe to worry it in certain parts of Henry and Shelby."

Just one year ago Gov. Grover, then a candidate for his present office, was traversing the State and uttering to the people the most solemn warnings of the danger they were in from Chinese immigration and competition in every branch of labor. Are the predictions he then uttered advancing toward infallibility? Or does it not appear that the Governor was playing the part of a scurvy demagogue?

OREGON.

The Dalles paper notes the arrival of a number of people from Polk county, en route for Ochoco valley.

J. M. Coulter, of Salem, makes large quantities of cedar tubs, and sends them to Portland for sale.

All kinds of fresh meats have advanced considerably at the Salem markets. Cause, scarcity of stock.

Richard Rush, of Lane county, proposes to beat anybody in Oregon shooting for $500, and let them set the distance.

The mail service from Dalles to Ochoco has not been let. For some cause or other the letting of the service has been defeated.

During the past month there has been a greater number of arrivals at the Dalles hotels than for any month for the last three years.

A steam flouring mill is wanted at Hubbard, the new railroad station just beyond Aurora, and a committee has been appointed to raise a subsidy to induce somebody to build one.

From the La Grande Democrat we learn that a large and enthusiastic railroad meeting was held at La Grande, April 5th, in favor of the Salt Lake Railroad Company route. Senator J. H. Hendershott presided.

This looks like business: The Statesman says that Cross shipped a lot of hair from Salem to Portland the other day, gathered from the porkers that yield the sugar-cured hams. When Oregon people learn to make the most of everything they will begin to see prosperity.

The editor of the Albany Democrat having been to Salem and attended the skating rink, and concussed his head and other more sensitive parts, on the Opera House floor, in the most humptious manner, went back to Albany fully satisfied with the project of annexing San Domingo.

The Statesman has a report that Mr. Holladay is willing for the small sum of $30,000 to change the line of the railroad and run it through that place. It is thought by the Statesman that Salem cannot do better than to give the subsidy. The depot now is very inconveniently located for that town.

A few days ago three men started across the Wallamet at Eugene City in a skiff. It drifted down, caught the ferry rope and capsized. One of the men clung to the rope. The other two floated down half a mile when they caught upon a snag to which they held till assistance reached them. They were both nearly drowned.

From the Mountaineer: At the annual meeting of the Columbia District Agricultural Society at Moody's Hall, Dalles City, April 8th, J. M. Bird was elected Chairman, S. W. Waldron, Secretary, and William Grant, Treasurer. Twelve Vice-Presidents were chosen. The meeting was largely attended, the surrounding country being well represented, and all passed off harmonically and apparently to the satisfaction of all.

From the Statesman: Quite a rush of emigration is seeking homes in the valleys of the mountains east of here. Silver Creek Prairie has already five settlers, three families and two single men. This is a beautiful mountain prairie, above Silver Creek Falls. Other persons are going on the lookout for similar homes. It is possible that before the present summer and autumn ends, all the available nooks and corners off from this valley will be prospected and claimed as homes for new emigrants.

The Eugene Journal contains various objections as to the route of the railroad through Lane county. Surveyors have been busy examining various points for crossing the river. It is not yet decided whether the crossing will be made so as to run to Eugene or not. But the Journal says: "It is certain that if the people of this place and this side of the river get a railroad they will have to pay something for it, and they might as well be picking the knots of their purse strings." That, we take it, is a sagacious remark.

THE TERRITORIES.

It is stated the N. P. R. R. Co. has ordered a complete survey of Fort Townsend Bay.

The newspaper at Kalama will be called the Kalama Press. W. B. Daniels, Esq., will be its editor.

Fred. S. Clerk has mapped out an addition to Port Townsend. It consists of sixty acres. A local paper says that "a Portland real estate agent has it for sale." Suggestion!

The Vancouver Register says that the body found in the Columbia river was clearly identified as that of Judge Ford. The remains were interred at the city cemetery at Vancouver.

The following delightful item is from the Owyhee Avalanche: A dock of hurdles came over from Boise City this week and will be on duty in the old Scandinavian saloon to-morrow night. Old hardy sweaters smell the battle afar off and are pricking up their ears.

At a railroad meeting at Olympia the other night, donations of land for terminal purposes, to the amount of 1,300 acres, was announced. A Nisqually man got up and said that three land owners, at his place had pledged more than that, and the Olympians began to despair. They, however, renewed their efforts, and now have upwards of 3,000 acres pledged to the company.

A recent dispatch from Fort Shaw, Montana, gives this: Great excitement has been caused at this post by immense numbers of buffalos crossing Sun river, just above the fort. The garrison have turned out and are slaughtering them by hundreds. It is supposed that they are driven across by a band of Sioux Indians, who are said to be moving in this direction. The buffaloes rub the telegraph poles down faster than the men can reset them.

At Steilacoom, a few days ago, in the case of the Territory vs Kennedy and sixteen others, indicted for murder in the second degree for killing a man named Gibson, a little over a year since, a nolle prosequi was entered by the prosecuting attorney, and the cause dismissed. The accused had been tried at the last term of the court for the murder of one McDaniel who was killed by the vigilance committee, of which they formed a part, at the same time Gibson was, and was acquitted by the jury in five minutes after the cause was submitted. It was considered in consequence of that result impossible to obtain a conviction in the former case, and it was for that reason dismissed. Three civil actions are now pending, brought by Abijah O'Niel and two others, against sixty citizens of Pierce county, for driving them out of the county and destroying their property, sometime in December, 1869, and just previous to the killing of McDaniel and Gibson. Each one brings his separate action and claims $9,000 damages.

THE SAN DOMINGO REPORT.—On the 5th instant Benjamin F. Wade, B. D. White and L. S. Howe, United States Commissioners to San Domingo, presented their report to the President, which was at once transmitted by him to Congress. We cannot find room for the whole document. The concluding paragraph is as follows:

In reviewing the whole field of their investigations, looking to the interests of both divisions of the island, they, the Commissioners, are firmly persuaded that the annexation of San Domingo to the United States would hardly be less beneficial to the Haytiens than to the Dominicans. This benefit would arise, first from the example which would doubtless be afforded of a well-regulated, orderly and prosperous State—a great need in that part of the world, and which it has yet never seen. Second, a more direct benefit would arise from an equitable establishment of a boundary line between the French speaking and Spanish-speaking nations in that island, and its guarantee by a strong force; this would end an exhausting border warfare, which has been one of the greatest curses of Hayti, as well as San Domingo, and would enable both to devote their energies thence forward to the education of their people and the development of their resources.

A "CONSCIENCE" CASE.—A few days ago the Secretary of the Treasury received the following letter, dated New York, March 30, inclosing the amount stated:

Sir: In making my returns to the Assessor yesterday I am satisfied that I withheld in my returns $1,400 of income belonging to my wife, for which I am responsible, and I therefore inclose you $110 to make the amount due on the same correct. Yours, respectfully,

CONSCIENCE.

All the Democratic papers at the East predicted at least 2,000 majority for Gov. English in Connecticut, and declared they were perfectly certain of electing three of the four Congressmen. It turned out something different.

The regulations prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury to meet this case are peremptory and will be strictly enforced in all cases hereafter. Shippers of merchandise ... here to Puget Sound via Victoria, or from here to Sicka, via Victoria or Nanaimo, will also be required to conform to these regulations.

OVERLAND MONTHLY FOR MAY.—A prospectus from the office of the Overland Monthly, informs us that the May number will contain "one of the most interesting articles ever published in the magazine. It is contributed by the Rev. Thomas Condon, of the Dalles, Oregon, and bears the suggestive title of "The Rocks of the Columbia Valley." Mr. Condon has created a deep interest in Oregon by his famous lectures on the "Three Stone Heads," recently delivered in Portland, Oregon, and his contributions have always attracted the attention of thinkers and scientists who pronounce them valuable."

The same number will also contain a ... Gerrick of the famous "Washburn ... Exploring Expedition," which has been the ... very interest. It is contributed by ... AMUSEMENTS.

ONE FINE THEATER.—The "Ticket-of-Leave Man" was produced Saturday night to a very full house. The play deserves, always, a good audience, as it is one of the best of its class. Mr. Bates' presentation of Bob Brierly is considered by the best citizens who have seen it, as one of his most successful efforts. It is not a great character at all, but it exhibits many phases of the life of an unfortunate man, and is deeply emotional in some parts, and in others bordering upon the sensational. Mr. Bates gives the emotional passages with very fine effect. Mr. Vinson, as Melter Moss, is a very artistic, oily-gammon old scoundrel. Mrs. Bates as May Edwards is correct, natural and pleasing. She carries the full sympathy of her audience, irresistably. Miss Lizzie Ingles succeeded admirably with Mrs. Willoughby, eliciting frequent laughter and applause. The other characters were sustained sufficiently well to render the play an excellent entertainment. The "Ticket of Leave Man" will be produced again to night, for the last time.

BENEFIT BALL.—The Emmet Guard's ball, for the benefit of William Franklin, will take place to-night. Those who dance at this ball will not only have the enjoyment of the dance, but the satisfaction of relieving, at the same time, the great need of an unfortunate man.

ARRIVAL OF THE CALIFORNIA.

The N. P. T. Co.'s steamship California arrived from Puget Sound via Victoria, at 2 o'clock last evening.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT.—A project has been set on foot to improve the base line road from the head of L street, East Portland, to the cemetery. For the purpose of raising the necessary funds a subscription paper, of which the following is a copy, has been prepared for circulation:

WHEREAS, The citizens of East Portland have ordered the improvement of "L" street by bridging and planking the same from the Willamette river to Twelfth street (commencing at the old powder house and terminating near the upper bridge), on the base line road, thus making a direct road from the river to the cemeteries; and,

WHEREAS, The road to the graveyards is almost impassable for four months in the year, and recognizing the necessity of an easy and convenient ingress and egress to and from the cemeteries, therefore, we, the undersigned, agree to pay the sums set opposite our respective names for the purpose of improving the base line road from the eastern terminus of L street to the cemeteries by planking the same.

The distance from the end of L street to the Catholic Cemetery is three fourths of a mile, and the estimated cost of improving is $1,500. It is proposed to make a roadway ten feet wide, of three inch planks. Messrs. C. M. Wiberg and others will solicit subscriptions in this city and H. Hanson in East Portland.

SAILOR DROWNED.—Last Thursday morning one of the sailors of the brig Madaiwaska attempted to desert, and for that purpose, jumped overboard to swim ashore, the vessel lying at anchor a short distance off Ft. Stevens. The act was seen by those on board and a boat was immediately lowered, with which to pursue and bring him back, but before he was overtaken, the man went down and did not rise again. His name was Michael Daly.

OREGON STATE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—A special meeting of this Society will be held on Tuesday, May 2d, at 11 o'clock A. M. in this city, to receive the report of the committee in relation to the propriety of holding an Exhibition of Summer Fruits and Flowers at Portland, and to perfect arrangements for such exhibition, should it be resolved upon.

THE NEW PAPER.—We learn that the material for Mrs. Duniway's paper is expected by the Oriflamme. The plan of bringing the Pioneer newspaper from San Francisco is abandoned. Mrs. Duniway has purchased new material for her paper, which she will call the New Northwest. The first number will probably appear in three or four weeks.

BRIDGE BEGUN.—The bridge lately ordered by the City Council across Marquam's Gulch, at the upper end of the city, has been begun and will probably be completed within the next two months.

COMING HOME OVERLAND.—News has been received from Chief J. H. Lappens that he was to start from Sacramento, yesterday morning, for home, overland.

PROCEEDINGS IN BANKRUPTCY.—Petitions were filed in the United States Court on Saturday for proceedings in bankruptcy against Erastus Holgate of Corvallis.

SAILED.—The bark Orient was towed down the river on Saturday to load with lumber at Cementville.

TO SAIL.—The steamship Pacific will sail for San Francisco at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

NEW GOODS.—ELEGANT STYLES.—Mrs. Duniway, corner of Third and Washington streets, is now opening a full line of new and stylish Millinery Goods. She has a number of New and Elegant Styles in Hats, etc., which Ladies will certainly be pleased to see and examine.

SPRING STYLES.—KOHN & FISHEL, as usual, are the first to fill their store with the new Spring Styles of Clothing and Furnishing Goods. Their stock is very large, and their goods of the best quality, and latest styles. Messrs. Kohn & Fishel buy their goods in large quantities, consequently, get them at low rates and can afford to sell cheap, which they intend to do.

They respectfully invite their friends and patrons to give them a call.

Go to O'Neil & Co's, if you want a coat
Made of wool, from the finest sheep or Cashmere goat,
Or the best fitting pants, or the nicest vest—
There's where you will always get the very best
They have all kinds of goods that gentlemen need,
Cloth, silk, cashmere, cassimere, linen and tweed—
If you'll all get a suit and plank down the cash
They'll sell to you cheap if it breaks them to smash!

BARBOUR'S LINEN THREAD is nicely put up in boxes, and with special reference to that Retail Trade, so that all numbers may be sold at one price.

BARBOUR'S CARPET THREAD is unequalled for strength and evenness of thread. Try it and be convinced of its superior qualities.

BARBOUR'S LINEN THREAD is strong and even, and is superior to any other in the market. Try it and be convinced of its superiority.

BARBOUR'S CARPET THREAD, made from the finest quality of IRISH FLAX, is stronger, better and cheaper than any other.

A profuse and many times excessively offensive discharge from the nose, with "stopping up" of the nose at times, impairment of the senses of smell and taste, watering or weak eyes, impaired hearing, irregular appetite, occasional tenses, pressure and pain over the eyes, and at times in the back of the head, occasional chilly sensations, cold feet and a feeling of lassitude and debility are symptoms which are common to Catarrh, yet all of them are not present in every case. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures Catarrh in its worst forms and stages. It is pleasant to use, and contains no poisonous or caustic drugs. Sold by mail on receipt of sixty cents. Address R. V. Pierce, 133 Seneca street, Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by druggists.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

We would call the attention of the trade to the advertisement of Messrs. Armes & Dallam, of San Francisco, manufacturers, importers and jobbers of wood and willow ware, to be found elsewhere in our columns. Messrs. A. & D. are the oldest established house, and have the largest and best selected stock in their line to be found on the Pacific coast, and we feel that we can do no better service to the trade than to commend this house to them. Being manufacturers and direct importers from the East and Europe, they can sell at the lowest market rates. Give them a call.

BUSINESS NOTICE.—Real estate in Couch's Addition is considered the most choice property in this city. Buyers will find a large amount to select from in this division by calling on Dean & Brothers, 92 Front street.

INTERESTING TO THE LADIES.—A look through the stock of Clark, Henderson & Cook will convince any one that they have selected the same with a view to please the most fastidious. Having secured the sole agency for the sale of American silks, they are enabled to offer superior inducements in this class of goods. Give them a call.

ARRIVAL OF THE PACIFIC.—The steamship Pacific, Wm. Harrison, Commander, arrived at 1 o'clock A. M. on Saturday. Her passengers for San Francisco were transferred at Astoria to the Idaho. The Pacific brought freight consigned as follows: Allen & Lewis, 154 packages mdse, Rosbland Bros, 2 cs mdse, J A Strowbridge, 5 rolls leather; John McCraken, 80 pkgs ex goods, etc; A B Meacham, 8 pkgs mdse; Baum Bros, 3 pkgs mdse; C & C R R Co, 8 heavy pkgs; Harris & Holman, 30 pkgs, books and stationery; A P Ankeny, 7 pkgs; Corbitt & Maclay, 5 cs; J B Congle, 4 rolls leather; W Jackson & Co, 1 cs glassware; Emil, Lowenstein & Co, A B Richardson, L M Starr, 1 case; M Seller, 9 cs; Bishop Morris, 1 cs; Smith & Davis, 3 pkgs; Thos Charman, Oregon City.

Be Guided by what you Know.

There is an old proverb which says, "Experience is the safest guide." To this guide the sick and ailing naturally turn when casting about for the means of relief. They inquire what a medicine has done for others, before they adopt it themselves. Of all the remedies and preventives in use, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters meets the test most triumphantly, and hence its immense popularity and vast sales. The sufferer from indigestion is sure to find some one among his friends who has been cured of that ailment by the famous vegetable stomachic. The victim of fever and ague, liver complaint, constipation, nervous prostration or general debility, has only to make inquiry in the neighborhood where he resides in order to discover what this standard restorative has effected in cases similar to his own. In the published testimony to its merits he will find a volume of proofs of its sanitary properties, which it is impossible for his common sense to resist. He tries it, and the effect it produces on his system adds another to the host of witnesses in its favor. Thus, its reputation, founded on facts not assertions, continually grows and spreads. Charlatans and impostors, some of them mere local hucksters, and others who take a somewhat wider range, attempt to thrust into the hands and down the throats of invalids, their haphazard concoctions, as substitutes for the tonic which for so many years has been a medicinal staple throughout the United States, Spanish America, Canada and the West Indies, but only succeed to a very limited extent. In this reasoning age, the people, having ascertained what is really deserving of their confidence, decline "running after strange gods."

SMYTH BROS.,

BUENA VISTA,

A Female Soldier.

[From the Des Moines (Iowa) Register, March 11.]

Not long since Adjutant General Baker received a letter of inquiry asking about a certain soldier in the 24th Iowa infantry. The tone of the letter was so peculiar as to attract considerable attention and create much comment in the office. In reply the General stated that the records of the regiment were in his office, and the record of the soldier, whom, for the sake of convenience, we will call Smith, although that is far from the real name. A few days afterward a gentleman from Northern Iowa appeared at the office, inquired for Gen. Baker, found that character, and was closeted with him long enough to divulge the following singular tale: When the war broke out, Miss Mary Smith, daughter of the General's visitor, was residing in Ohio, working for a farmer in the kitchen. Her father's family had moved to Iowa the fall preceding the attack on Sumter, leaving Mary behind to follow in the spring. Various causes transpired to delay her departure for her new home until autumn, and it was September before she landed at Muscatine, from which place she expected to travel by land to her father's house. She was a large sized, hearty-looking girl, eighteen years of age. Arriving at Muscatine, some strange freak induced her to assume man's apparel and enlisted in the Twenty-fourth infantry, then in rendezvous at that city. She did this without exciting any suspicion, burned all her feminine garments and papers, neglected to inform her friends, either in Iowa or Ohio of her arrival on Hawkeye soil, and became a soldier. Some comment was elicited by her beardless face and girlish appearance, but as she did her duty promptly and well, was particularly handy in cooking and taking care of the sick, the young warrior speedily became a general favorite alike with officers and men. She passed through all the campaigns in which the regiment was engaged, without a scratch, except a close call from a Minie ball at Sabine's Cross Roads, which took the skin off the back of her left hand, voted with the other members of the regiment for President in 1864, and was finally mustered out with her comrades at the close of the war. When she was discharged she procurred female apparel—although in doing so she was obliged to make a confidant of one of her own sex—and procured work in Illinois, not far from Rock Island. Six months elapsed before the tan of five summers wore off, and when she had again become "whith," and had learned the almost forgotten customs of womanhood, she presented herself at her father's house, where she was received with open arms. To all the questions which were asked by the various members of the family concerning her whereabouts for so many years, she refused to make any answer, only replying that she had been honestly employed, and had never forsaken the right way. She had been economical in the army, and invested several hundred dollars in land in Northern Iowa, which rapidly appreciated in value, and to-day she is well enough off to be beyond the reach of want. With the remainder of her money she attended school. Last January a worthy man, who had been in the same regiment, but in a different company, made her an offer of marriage. Like a true woman, she was unwilling to bestow her hand when any part of her former life was unknown, and before accepting the offer she made to him a full recitation of her soldier days. At first he could not believe it, but when she proceeded to narrate events and incidents which were known only to active participants in the fold of marches, camps, skirmishes, and all the thousand and one things which never appear in print, but which ever remain pictures with "old soldiers," he was forced to accept the strange tale as true. He, however did not lessen his regard for her, and about the first of February they were married. The lady's father, who learned all of her life when she made it plain, that would-be husband, was still incredulous, and only satisfied himself of its truth by reference to the Adjutant General's office and a personal inspection of the records. By comparing dates furnished him by his daughter with the original rolls there on file, he became fully convinced that it was all true.

The Orleans Family.

Henry M. Field contributes to the [illegible], edited by her husband, Dr. Field, a charmingly interesting sketch of the Duke of Orleans. After giving a spirited account of the vicissitudes of the leading representatives of the house prior to the revolution [illegible] Louis Philippe from the throne, [illegible] then narrates the subsequent fortunes of the family:

"Returning to England, they lived at Claremont, [illegible] of Leopold, the King of Belgium. [illegible] Philippe soon ended his days. The Queen survived him a few years, surrounded by her children, who regarded her with the tenderness. In adversity as prosperity they presented the same spectacle of an united and happy family. The princes, wasting no strength in vain regrets or in political intrigues, passed their time in study or in the best society of London. Of the four sons of Louis Philippe, not one ever brought reproach on their illustrious name. Their father, by keeping them under his roof and under his eye, had kept them away from bad associates, from the flatterers and profligates who are the dooms of kings. They grew up a pure, manly race. The Duke de Nemours, the eldest after the death of the Duke of Orleans, assumed the dignity of the royal family by the majority of his private life. The Prince de Joinville belonged to the Navy, and ranked high in his profession. Though since disabled by deafness, he is respected as a man of honor and intelligence. He brought his son to this country, and had him educated for his own profession in the Naval Academy at Newport. But the flower of the family is the Duke d'Aumale. He is a literary man of decided ability, who has written much, though [illegible] another name, for the Revue des Deux Mondes. He is the author of a pamphlet entitled 'What have you done with France?' in which he arraigned the policy of the Empire. 'France can remain a Republic if it is not ambitious; she may be called to the highest destinies.' The youngest son is the Duke de Montpensier, who is married to a sister of the queen of Spain, but who, unlike many in the atmosphere of such a court, has never had a breath against his private name.

"But the chief interest attached to the name of Orleans centers in that branch of the family in which, if a monarchy is re-established, is likely to be the heir to the throne. When the Duke of Orleans died, his widow had but one thing to live for, to train up her sons to be worthy of their father, and to fit them for the high destinies which might be imposed upon them. When she went into exile this was still the burden of her heart. She survived the Revolution ten years, dying in 1858. But she did not breathe her last till she saw this sacred duty fulfilled. She saw her sons grow up well educated, pure, modest, and virtuous. After the death of their mother, in 1861, they came to this country and served for a year on the staff of General McClellan, and thus took their first lessons in arms under the standard of liberty. Since their return to England they have lived a retired and studious life, preparing themselves for that revolution which they confidently anticipated, and which has now come. Should they return to France, we may see upon the throne a family identified in its past history with constitutional government, and which has had opportunities of learning political wisdom by every variety of fortune; by the former possession of power and by the experience of adversity and exile.

A Phenomenon of Eels.—The Delaware American says:

A gentleman who has resided a number of years on the margin of the Delaware, informs us that it is an interesting sight in the month of April to watch the migration of eels. The fish, which are all young, only some four or five inches in length, advance in uniform order within a foot or two of the shore, and usually three abreast. These fry thus migrate from salt water to the upper parts of the river are about three days passing, and keep up a uniform rate of speed day and night. They proceed in as close proximity to the shore as possible, in order to escape their enemies, catfish, rock, and perch. The old fishermen never fail to observe this interesting spectacle.

GENERALITIES.

A young lady being asked by an enthusiastic politician which party she was most in favor of, replied that she preferred a wedding party.

A New Yorker was informed just before his marriage that his bride had fallen heir to $300,000, but he let the ceremony go on just the same!

Lady Yarmouth asked Garrick one day why Love was always represented as a child? He replied, "because love never reaches the age of wisdom and experience."

At a recent wedding in a certain town in Wisconsin, the organist, upon the entrance of the bridal party into the church, played, "Put Me in My Little Bed."

That street in Peoria, Illinois, which about a year ago was called Turtle Dove Avenue, on account of the newly-married couples living on it, is now known as nursery row.

A Missouri newspaper complains that the hogs of that State are so fat that in order to find out where their heads are it is necessary to make them squeal, and then judge by the sound.

An ambitious citizen of Rome, Georgia, endeavored to eat three quarts of oysters, recently. A local paper says: "it was a way he had of signing an agreement to slumber in the valley."

"Papa, ought a teacher to flog me for what I did not do?" "Certainly not, my boy," replied the father. "Well," said the little fellow, "he did to-day, when I didn't do my sum."

A gentleman was seated with other persons where a country girl was bolt upright and perfectly silent. Silence, indeed, fell upon the entire party, and the gentleman first alluded to said, in what he supposed to be an almost inaudible voice, "Awful pause." "I guess, Mister," exclaimed the indignant country lass, jumping up, "you'd have awful paws too, if you had to do the scrubbing I does."

The Great Deposed.

INTERVIEW OF A CORRESPONDENT WITH NAPOLEON AT WILHELMSHOHE.

NEW YORK, March 28.—A correspondent who recently interviewed Napoleon at Wilhelmshohe says he expressed the belief that France is drifting to anarchy, which might not be confined to her alone. He denounced the National Assembly as illegally and unfairly chosen, and said it is not the representative of the will of the people. He said Theirs is a smart wire-puller, who will do anything to retain power. The Emperor defended himself from various calumnies.

In reply to a question as to whether he intends to retire to private life, Napoleon said: I do not think that strictly speaking it should be called private life. All my efforts shall be unceasingly directed against the rebels who have conspired for the ruin of France, which is the only hope to them of carrying out their sinister designs. These men I will force to make amends to my poor people, which they can only do by asking directly after their will and then submitting to it without opposition. An energetic government, with honest men, may soon heal up the wounds of France; but the power and authority of these same men would be blasted at the outset did they not receive it immediately out of the hands of the people.

Correspondent. Your Majesty knows too well the sentiments of my countrymen than to doubt that all their wishes are for a prosperous Republican Government in France. In case this should prove impossible, only then do I believe that the great majority of them would rather see a Napoleonic dynasty on the basis of a plebiscite than the Orleans or Bourbons on their claims of inherited and divine rights. Still I can not give up all hope that France may succeed in establishing a durable and thriving republic.

Emperor. Your President, General Grant, does not seem to share such a hope, for, to a certain extent, he seems to forsee with much political acumen the early collapse of our pseudo Republic. How else could he have emptied such a cornucopia of panegyric over the Monarchico-Federal system of New Germany.

Sweet Home in the Army.

An illustration, with the above title, which appeared in the Hearth and Home some time since, forcible recalled to my mind an incident that transpired in my regiment (the Massachusetts First Infantry) while we were living in front of Fredericksburg, in the winter of 1862-3. An officer of the New Jersey brigade, attached to our division, had been married in the camp of his regiment, and in great style, considering the place and circumstances. A very fine brass band was present on the occasion, which, early on the following morning made a visit to our regiment and discoursed some music in front of headquarters. As it had been a long time since our boys had heard any first-class band music, the first inspiring note turned us all out into the company's streets, and most of our feet were soon keeping time with the measure in movements perhaps more energetic than graceful. After playing several lively airs, the band struck up "Home Sweet Home." The effect was almost electrical. The merriment very suddenly ceased. Every face assumed a sober expression, and the men returned one by one to their quarters, until the streets were almost deserted, and the stillness was only broken by the plaintive notes of that soul-touching melody, which swept the heart strings of every soldier, and awoke the tenderest emotions. Had any one looked into those tents then, he would have seen tears on many a cheek that had passed unblanched through the fiercest battle. The minds of those stern visaged men had been suddenly carried back to their New England homes, and the loved ones there with whom they had so sadly parted at the call of duty, and for a time the most mournful thoughts took possession of them. Should they meet them ever again in this life, or would death on the battle field or in some Southern prison pen, and an unknown grave be their fate? Alas! Chancellorsville and Gettysburg soon followed, leaving our regiment a mere skeleton, and stilling forever many brave hearts that had so tenderly responded to the notes of "Home, Sweet Home" in that camp on the Rappahannock.—Grand Army Journal.

HE COULDN'T TELL A LIE.—Alf Burnett, in one of his letters to The People, of Indianapolis, relates the following anecdote:

"By the by, a good story is told of Ben Butler and his notorious honesty. A short time since Ben Butler and Wendell Phillips had business with the President, and arm-in-arm proceeded to call upon him. The President was busy, and sent them word he would see them presently. Phillips and Butler strolled out into a conservatory, in the rear of the White House, thence into the garden. Butler and Phillips were engaged in an animated conversation upon some subject. Butler became slightly excited.

"A large hatchet, belonging to the gardener, was beside a tree. Butler casually picked it up, and, while talking, he made several deep gashes with it into some of General Grant's favorite trees. Just at this juncture, the President appearing, Butler hastily secreted it under his coat tails.

"After the compliments of the day, the President spied for the first time his mutilated tree, and with tones of vehemence, inquired who had been cutting and gashing that tree? After a few moments' pause, Butler stepped bravely up to the President, and took him by the hand, saying: 'Mr. President, I cannot tell a lie; I cannot tell a lie; Wendell Phillips did it.'"

GOING FOR THE SAINTS.—A RAID ON MORMONDOM.—There is a tough time coming for poor Brigham Young, for the Lion of Utah is to be hearded in his den. The Revs. Messrs. McDonald, of Boston, Boole, of New York, and Inskip of Baltimore, start next summer for a tour across the plains, taking with them a big tent capable of holding four thousand persons. After attending to the regeneration of California, the reverend gentlemen will move homeward by way of Salt Lake, where they will set up their huge tabernacle, and hold an old-fashioned camp-meeting directly under Brigham's patriarchal nose. It is said that a great many Mormons were formerly Methodists, and are homesick for the old fold. Our own opinion is that, with free preaching in Utah the Mormon system of concubinage, at least, hasn't twenty years' life in it.—Tribune.

A little girl sent out to hunt eggs, came back unsuccessful, complaining that "lots of hens were standing around doing nothing.

"None but the brave deserve the fair," and none but the brave can live with some of them.

LAND DEPARTMENT

OREGON & CALIFORNIA RAILROAD COMPANY.

SALEM, OREGON, October 22, 1870.

THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT IS MADE FOR information of all concerned:

First—Congress has granted to the Company alternate sections of the public lands designated by odd numbers within a distance of thirty miles on each side of the railroad, excepting lands to which a pre-emption or homestead claim had attached prior to the withdrawal by Government of the lands co-terminus with the first division of located line from East Portland to Jefferson, at 12 M. February 16, 1870. The second division of located line from Jefferson to a point six miles south of Roseburg, May, 1870, and from the last named point to the California line, 1870.

Second—Persons who have settled pre-emption or homestead claims have to say that each odd numbered section can purchase the same from the Railroad Company at the Government price of $1 25 per acre in greenbacks, and upon very favorable terms, if they so desire, by filing an abandonment of their claim in the U. S. Land Office, blanks for which will be furnished by the Land Agent of the Company. Such purchase from the Company has these advantages over a purchase from the Government: The party can leave the land if necessary; he can sell the land or mortgage it; he is saved the payment of lawyers' or agents' fees, and expenses of witnesses to go to the Land Office to "prove up" his claim; he can get his title perfect in less time, and he can buy on credit at a low rate of interest.

Third—No sales will be made by the Company until the land is listed over to it by the United States Land Commissioner and Secretary of the Interior.

Purchasers are thus assured that the title they obtain is perfect. I. R. MOORES,

Cheap Water Pipe.

"THE ASPHALTUM PRESSURE PIPE COMPAny," of San Francisco, having purchased of the patentees the sole right to manufacture on this coast, are now making an article at their works, at Alameda Point, that will supply the general want of a cheap and durable water pipe. The invention originated in France, where these pipes are extensively used, as well as in Germany, in fact, all over Europe, almost entirely superseding for all ordinary purposes the use of iron. It is no new thing, having been in use for sixty years.

Its Durability.

Being unperishable and insoluble to atmospheric influences or chemical properties of the earth, it never changes, and consequently much more durable than iron, which corrodes, and in time leaks.

It is a Non-Conductor,

And will not freeze except at a remarkably low temperature, and even then its expansive power is greater than that of frozen water. Its warm weather it acts as a cooler for water passing through it.

Neutrality to Acids and Alkalis.

This pipe is not affected by acids and alkalis, nor is it affected by galvanic currents—consequently is invaluable in conducting telegraph wires under ground through tunnels and under bridges.

Elasticity.

The elasticity of this pipe prevents its bursting from outward shocks or concussions. The interior of the pipes being glazed, are as smooth as porcelain, and consequently are never clogged by adhering sediment.

Lightness.

The mean weight of these pipes of iron is as one to five, which not only facilitates handling, but reduces the cost of transportation.

Laying the Pipe

Is a simple matter—can be laid by any laboring man of ordinary intelligence; but the Company, if required, will always furnish a competent person, free of expense, to oversee the proper laying of the pipe. Contracts taken for any required length of pipe from water or mining companies, and warranted to stand according to contract.

Pipe Under Pressure

Can be seen at the office of the Company. We are the only parties manufacturing this pipe on the Pacific Coast under this patent. All other offered is spurious and an infringement.

Cheapness.

The cost when laid, including connections, is about one-quarter that of lead and one-half that of iron.

We manufacture this pipe in lengths of twelve feet, and ship it everywhere, by all sorts of conveyance—no size from one to twelve inches.

Pressure.

We manufacture according to the pressure required from 1 to 600 pounds to the inch, and guarantee it to stand the pressure.

Prices.

1 inch, 10 cents per foot
2 inch, 20 " "	For pipe capable of resisting a pressure of 150 lbs. to the square inch.
3 inch, 30 " "
4 inch, 40 " "
5 inch, 50 " "
6 inch, 60 " "
8 inch, $1 00 " "
10 inch, $1 25 " "
12 inch, $1 50 " "

This pipe being made of a combination of paper, canvas, and asphaltum, in lengths of twelve feet, should not be confounded with wooden asphaltum pipe in lengths of four feet.
